Enraged E. Germans, Denied U.S. Food By Reds, Protest By Striking

Russian Zone Boils With Unrest; Soviet Army On Riot Alert

BERLIN, Aug. 3 (AP)—Protest strikes blazed up in East Germany's largest industries today as 225,000 Communist German troops and police held off the hungry nation at gunpoint from free American food.

Enraged workers, beaten back with clubs and rifle butts from Berlin-bound trains yesterday, went on sit-downs and slowdowns today in big plants producing gasoline, rubber, steel, and chemicals for the Soviet war economy.

The Russian zone boiled with unrest, apparently needing only a spark to explode into another June 17th revolt.

Red Army On Riot Alert

The Soviet Army, 300,000 strong, continued on a riot alert that had never been relaxed even after martial law was lifted July 11. Tank forces were redeployed during the week of July 12-18 so as to be ready to seize control of key German cities on a moment's notice. They continue to be based in these same positions.

High Allied military sources confirmed tonight that no Soviet troops were called out to help East German armed forces suppress more than 150 hunger riots at Soviet zone railway stations yesterday.

The Soviet commander in chief, Gen. A. A. Grechko, was reported keeping in constant touch with East German security chiefs, however.

50,000 Demonstrate

A confidential Allied summary of yesterday's widespread disturbances estimated 50,000 East Germans demonstrated against the Red blockade of American food relief.

At least 600 arrests were made. Many men and women were beaten by police.

But in West Berlin, the vast give-away of American food continued today with 150,000 East Berliners getting food parcels. Only 5,000 Soviet zone residents were able to filter through the Communist armed ring around the city.

Three Crewmen Hurt In Crash Of Bomber

E. Germans Risk Lives For Seven Pounds Of Food

BERLIN, Aug. 3 (AP)—Would you risk your life for seven pounds of simple foodstuffs? For a parcel of two pounds of flour, two pounds of lard, two pounds of dried peas and four small cans of condensed milk?

Some hungry East Germans are doing that now as they struggle to break through a Communist travel blockade that bars them from entering West Berlin to collect free American food packages.

Would you creep four hours through a forest, dodging Communist police, for this gift ration? And when you got it, would you risk a long series of Communist reprisals when you got home? Like a heavy fine, having your husband fired from his job, misery for your children?

Frau M., from a small town near Dresden thought the free food was worth it.

She has been living for eight years in the Russian zone, and she looked it—shabby, pale and washed out, though still in her 30s.

Last week she heard on the Berlin American radio station that free food would be distributed here.

She and her husband scraped up 20 marks (about five dollars) for their train fare. If she got through Frau M. could pick up four parcels—for herself, her husband and their two children. This would be a windfall worth several weeks of her husband's salary—even if the same food could be obtained in the poverty-stricken Russian zone.

Frau M. got through to Berlin last Saturday, just before the Communists blockaded all rail travel from their zone to the free food city.

She picked up her four portions Sunday and started back today. But at the Russian zone border outside Berlin Communist police seized her and confiscated all her food. The police pushed and cuffed her.

"And the worst is still to come," the police warned her, as they recorded her name and identity card number.

"Just wait until you get home. There you are going to pay a fine of 150 marks ($37.50, or about a month's salary). And then your husband is going to be fired from his job. That's what you are going to get for going to Berlin to pick up these American food packages. And don't you dare tell anybody we confiscated your food. Things will go even harder."

In tears, Frau M. left the barracks where her prizes were confiscated.

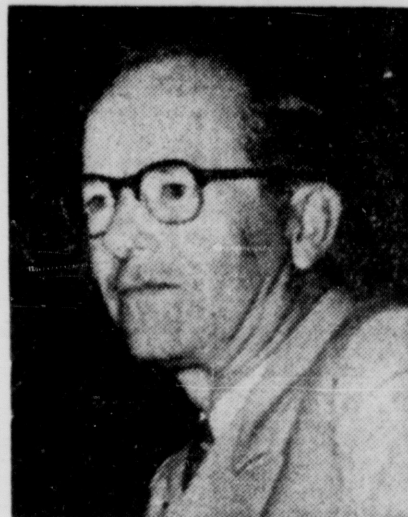

But she recovered her courage. She decided to return through the new blockade to Berlin instead of going home. Frau M. thought if she could get more food parcels to replace the confiscated ones she could store them with her mother, who lives in West Berlin.

"So I crept back through a woods for four hours until I got back to another station on the Berlin interurban transit lines," she related. "I came back here to the relief station and told my story and they gave me another four parcels for those I had lost. Maybe my mother can send them to be by parcel post. It still gets through."

The fiery Utah governor, attending the 45th annual governors' conference here, sounded the only dissent in what otherwise was a solid bank of praise from Republicans—and even some Democrats—for the GOP administration's accomplishments in its first six months in office.

With President Eisenhower flying here to confer with the governors, four of his top rank advisers sat in on round-table discussions and a fifth—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey—was prepared to address tonight's annual state dinner.

NAM Urges Sales Levy To Insure 'Fiscal Security'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers laid squarely before Congress today a plea for a national sales tax as the first step on "a firm road to fiscal security."

The argument was one that some congressmen expect to hear from the Eisenhower administration next January. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has said he is considering a sales tax as part of a broad tax revision program.

4½ To 5 Per Cent Levy

NAM President Charles R. Sligh Jr., called for a uniform tax of 4½ to 5 per cent on all manufactured goods except food and food products, effective next April 1. Separate, higher taxes would be maintained on alcoholic beverages and tobacco.

Sligh urged this uniform rate to replace the present system of sharply varying excise or sales taxes on scores of products, but which leaves many other goods untaxed. He said total revenue would be about the same as at present—roughly 10 billion dollars annually.

The effect would be to lower and equalize levies on articles already to get for going to Berlin to pick up these American food packages. And don't you dare tell anybody we confiscated your food. Things will go even harder."

In tears, Frau M. left the barracks where her prizes were confiscated.

Morse Speech Delays Windup For Over Hour

Senate Passes Aid, Reciprocal Trade, Appropriation Bills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The 83rd Congress completed its first session and went home tonight.

The House had quit at 10:07 p. m., EST. The Senate followed suit at 11:39 p. m. after a speech by Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) had threatened to prolong the proceedings.

The official windup time for the Senate was 11 p. m., EST, 12 midnight daylight time.

The Senate actually quit at 12:39 a. m., daylight time, but under the adjournment resolution could not run beyond 12 midnight daylight time.

The clerks, therefore, moved the clock hands back so that they did not run past midnight.

The speech by Morse attacking the Eisenhower administration's power policy delayed adjournment for more than an hour after all legislative business had been transacted.

He had a 41-page prepared address, but cut it short, putting big sections of it in the Congressional Record without reading them.

Many of the senators left as Morse began to talk.

Senate Passes Aid Bill

Morse calls his speeches reports of the "Independent party," of which he is the lone Senate member.

The hitch developed as the Senate rushed to close its books for the year.

In the final sweep, the lawmakers completed action on a series of "must" bills and sent them to the White House for the President's signature. The list included:

1. Senate passage, by voice vote, of a trimmed-down version of the administration's global aid bill. Already approved by the House, the measure now goes to the White House.

The bill provides 6½ billion dollars for military and economic aid to nearly 60 friendly countries, including $4,531,507,000 in new cash and $2,120,915,390 in carry-over funds from past appropriations.

Money Bill Approved

2. Senate approval of a House-passed bill providing $1,086,000,000 for operation of the State, Commerce and Justice Departments in the current fiscal year.

On the House's insistence, the bill left out an earlier Senate-approved provision for 12½ million in federal aid to the nation's airports.

3. Senate passage, by voice vote, of a 1-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

The act calls for creation of a 17-member special commission to study the whole range of U. S. trade policies and submit a report by next March 3.

In one of its final acts, the House voted 171-28 in an unrecorded, standing vote to pass a resolution aimed at raising congressional salaries.

The resolution would set up an 18-member commission to study the pay scales of congressmen and federal judges, with an order to the 1954 Congress to take action on the commission's recommendations.

Weather Delays Plane Carrying Dulles To Korea

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 4 (AP)—Far East Air Forces reported at 11:40 a. m. today that the plane carrying U. S. Secretary of State Dulles to Korea was delayed in flight and would not reach Seoul before 9:36 p. m. (7:36 a. m. EST).

The plane had been scheduled to arrive in the South Korean capital at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. EST, Monday).

A FEAF spokesman said the plane was "in flight" at the time of his announcement.

The plane was apparently delayed by bad weather that covered much of the North Pacific.

State Ends Fiscal Year With $14 Million Surplus

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Maryland ended the 1953 fiscal year June 30 with a surplus of $14,485,207. But only $2,845,160 of that is unencumbered and available for use in meeting Gov. McKeldin's next budget.

Gls Will Not Be Used As Labor Troops In Korea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The White House said today "there is no intention whatever of using American combat units as labor troops in Korea."

The White House statement followed published reports that President Eisenhower has approved a plan to rebuild war-wrecked South Korea into a show window of the free world by using American troops in the work of rehabilitation.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) of the Senate Armed Services Committee told the Senate it would be "outrageous" to put combat soldiers to work in Korea manning "shovels and wheelbarrows."

Technical Aid Only

In a statement to reporters late today, Assistant White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder said the President wants our forces "to give technical assistance to the South Korean government so as to accelerate reconstruction and rehabilitation of the war ravaged country."

But, Snyder said, combat units will not be employed as labor troops.

Some people, Snyder said, including members of Congress, had interpreted the plan as calling for the use of American troops in labor battalions.

"There is ample Korean labor willing to participate in this work," Snyder said.

Defense Primary Mission

"The primary mission of our military personnel there is defense. They are going to be rested, trained, and kept in a high degree of combat readiness."

"Examples of the kinds of technical assistance they will provide: 'Engineers will assist in constructing bridges to restore the flow of commerce and medical units will undertake disease control measures.'"

Saltonstall told the Senate that remarks attributed to Secretary of State Dulles about use of troops for the reconstruction of war-shattered South Korea probably did not reflect what he had in mind.

M'Carthy 'Reinforces' Reds, Reuther Says

PARIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—Walter Reuther, president of the CIO said today he believes Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) "has done more to reinforce communism than any other American."

The American labor leader told newsmen "McCarthy employs unlearned methods and plays communism's game."

"He has weakened the position of America in Europe," Reuther declared. "The CIO has always fought against McCarthyism and will continue to do so."

U. S. Subs For Turkey

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—House passage sent to the President today a bill authorizing the loan of two submarines to Turkey for not longer than five years.

Ike Will Address Nation By Radio Thursday Night

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower will address the nation by radio between 8:30 and 9 p. m., EST, Thursday.

Announcing this today, assistant White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder said the President will discuss the record of the administration and the accomplishments of the 83rd Congress.

The address will be carried over the four major radio networks and portions will be filmed for television and newsreels.

Crash Landing Kills 4 On Plane

PARIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—A French pilot belly-landed his disabled Air France Constellation on a beach in Southwest Turkey today, saving the lives of 38 of the 42 persons aboard, including those of an American mother and her child.

The pilot, Capt. Raymond Terry, sent out an SOS early this morning saying his two left engines had failed and that he was about to make a crash landing near the tiny island of Kastellorizon, off Southern Turkey.

Instead, he nursed the huge plane toward Fethiye, on the Gulf of Makri, to the northwest, and nosed it toward the beach. He landed in the water close enough to shore for the momentum to carry it onto the beach. Four passengers were killed and three were injured.

All eight members of the crew, including the skipper, survived.

The American passenger was Mrs. Marjorie Clark Yahyavi, of Portland, Ore., who was returning with her child from the United States to Tehran, Iran, to join her Iranian husband. The accident occurred on her 27th birthday.

Knowland Forces Election Today Of GOP Senate Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland of California won a test of strength within the Senate Republican Policy Committee today when he defeated an effort to delay election of a majority leader to succeed the late Sen. Taft of Ohio.

Despite pleas of Sen. Bridges (NH), top ranking Republican in service, and Sen. McCarthy (Wis), the GOP Policy Committee upheld its plans for election of Taft's successor at 1 p. m., EST tomorrow.

Knowland, who is expected to win the place and has been acting leader, forced the test within the committee.

Bridges, now chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee and Senate president pro tem, was not at the policy

Nation's Leaders Attend Memorial Service For Taft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fallen Sen. Robert A. Taft received today a last full measure of homage from leaders of a mighty nation at a state funeral beneath the Capitol dome.

A Congress in which the Ohioan became almost a one-man institution paused in its adjournment rush and gathered with President Eisenhower, high dignitaries of government, the Taft family and friends for solemn memorial rites in the vast, circular rotunda.

Body Flown To Cincinnati

Prayers, a single warm tribute, the national anthem—that was all. Yet in this simple service, Taft was honored as only 12 of his countrymen have been before him.

After it was over, the unopened bronze casket was carried slowly down the massive front steps of the Capitol to the plaza where hundreds of ordinary folk were assembled. It was then taken to the National Airport for flight to Cincinnati and a private funeral and burial tomorrow.

Mrs. Taft, four sons and their wives followed an hour later in a private plane of the Chase National Bank of New York.

The Senate Republican leader died of cancer Friday in New York. Yesterday his body lay in state in the center of the Capitol rotunda while tens of thousands wended by to honor him.

Final Tribute Offered

Today the casket and the catafalque on which it rested was moved to the west side of the great central room of the Capitol and the people who knew Taft best in official and personal life crowded in to offer their final tribute.

Senate members, and then those of the House, entered in a body. Chief Justice Vinson and other Supreme Court justices, Cabinet members, America's military chiefs, ambassadors and ministers of other lands were escorted into the chamber.

Red Cross Teams Enter Red Korea To Greet Captives

MUNSA, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 4 (AP)—Allied prisoners were assembling just back of the Bamboo Curtain today for the opening of the first post armistice exchange of prisoners of war tomorrow (tonight EST).

Emphasizing the imminence of the hour, an Allied Red Cross task force jumps through the Bamboo Curtain for the first free world glimpse of North Korea since the war began three years ago.

The 30-man team, including nine Americans, was armed only with comfort packages for the 12,763 Allied captives to be exchanged. There are 3,313 Americans in this group. Some Americans undoubtedly will be exchanged tomorrow. The Reds will turn over 400 disabled non-Koreans then.

Mercy Teams Cross Paths

The Red Cross team was headed for the Yalu River boundary between Manchuria and North Korea, where prison camps are now being emptied of their prisoners.

Given admittance only grudgingly, the Reds stipulated that only Communist military personnel be permitted to distribute Red Cross food and comfort packets.

Simultaneously Communist Red Cross workers were due to fly southward to see 74,000 Red Korean and Chinese prisoners in Allied stockades.

The mercy teams planned to cross paths at neutral Panmunjom at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. Monday, EST).

Final preparations were being rushed to give the first 400 returning American and Allied prisoners a heartfelt welcome when they start through freedom gate at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Presumably the first group of Allied captives reached Kaesong by train last night, Kaesong, the advanced Red truce headquarters, is within 15 miles of Panmunjom.

400 To Be Returned Daily

Communist correspondents at Panmunjom said the Allied repatriates probably would be housed in the same brick school house buildings the Communists used for sick and wounded prisoners exchanged last April.

Once the exchange begins to flow, the Reds have agreed to hand back at the rate of 400 daily some 8,186 South Koreans, 922 British and 342 prisoners from nine other Allied countries in addition to the Americans. All but 500 were reported in sound physical condition.

In exchange, the Communists will receive 69,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese at the rate of 2,400 a day and 360 sick and wounded daily. About 3,000 Reds were reported ill.

Another North-South exchange of neutral watchdog teams to supervise 10 Allied and Communist ports of entry is due to start Saturday.

NAM Urges Sales Levy To Insure 'Fiscal Security'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers laid squarely before Congress today a plea for a national sales tax as the first step on "a firm road to fiscal security."

The argument was one that some congressmen expect to hear from the Eisenhower administration next January. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has said he is considering a sales tax as part of a broad tax revision program.

NAM President Charles R. Sligh Jr., called for a uniform tax of 4½ to 5 per cent on all manufactured goods except food and food products, effective next April 1. Separate, higher taxes would be maintained on alcoholic beverages and tobacco.

Sligh urged this uniform rate to replace the present system of sharply varying excise or sales taxes on scores of products, but which leaves many other goods untaxed. He said total revenue would be about the same as at present—roughly 10 billion dollars annually.

The effect would be to lower and equalize levies on articles already taxed, and extend the levy to hundreds of new items for the first time.

House Group Considers Plan

Sligh's statement was prepared for presentation at a night session of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, which is considering the sales tax proposition as part of its own general tax revision effort.

It was the first hearing in years specifically devoted to a national sales tax.

Sligh insisted there is no logical basis for the selection of particular goods and services now taxed, nor for the range of tax rates imposed.

The clerks, therefore, moved the clock hands back so that they did not run past midnight.

The speech by Morse attacking the Eisenhower administration's power policy delayed adjournment for more than an hour after all legislative business had been transacted.

He had a 41-page prepared address, but cut it short, putting big sections of it in the Congressional Record without reading them.

Many of the senators left as Morse began to talk.

Senate Passes Aid Bill

Morse calls his speeches reports of the "Independent party," of which he is the lone Senate member.

The hitch developed as the Senate rushed to close its books for the year.

In the final sweep, the lawmakers completed action on a series of "must" bills and sent them to the White House for the President's signature. The list included:

1. Senate passage, by voice vote, of a trimmed-down version of the administration's global aid bill, already approved by the House. The measure now goes to the White House.

The bill provides 6½ billion dollars for military and economic aid to nearly 60 friendly countries, including $4,531,507,000 in new cash and $2,120,915,390 in carry-over funds from past appropriations.

Money Bill Approved

2. Senate approval of a House-passed bill providing $1,086,000,000 for operation of the State, Commerce and Justice Departments in the current fiscal year.

On the House's insistence, the bill left out an earlier Senate-approved provision for 12½ million in federal aid to the nation's airports.

3. Senate passage, by voice vote, of a 1-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. The act calls for creation of a 17-member special commission to study the whole range of U. S. trade policies and submit a report by next March 3.

In one of its final acts, the House voted 171-28 in an unrecorded, standing vote to pass a resolution aimed at raising congressional salaries.

The resolution would set up an 18-member commission to study the pay scales of congressmen and federal judges, with an order to the 1954 Congress to take action on the commission's recommendations.

Weather Delays Dulles To Korea

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 4 (AP)—Far East Air Forces reported at 11:40 a. m. today that the plane carrying U. S. Secretary of State Dulles to Korea was delayed in flight and would not reach Seoul before 9:36 p. m. (7:36 a. m. EST).

The plane had been scheduled to arrive in the South Korean capital at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. EST, Monday). A FEAF spokesman said the plane was "in flight" at the time of his announcement.

The plane was apparently delayed by bad weather that covered much of the North Pacific.

State Ends Fiscal Year With $14 Million Surplus

GIs Will Not Be Used As Labor Troops In Korea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The White House said today "there is no intention whatever of using American combat units as labor troops in Korea."

The White House statement followed published reports that President Eisenhower has approved a plan to rebuild war wrecked South Korea into a show window of the free world by using American troops in the work of rehabilitation.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) of the Senate Armed Services Committee told the Senate it would be "outrageous" to put combat soldiers to work in Korea manning "shovels and wheelbarrows."

Technical Aid Only

In a statement to reporters late today, Assistant White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder said the President wants our forces "to give technical assistance to the South Korean government so as to accelerate reconstruction and rehabilitation of the war ravaged country."

But, Snyder said, combat units will not be employed as labor troops.

Some people, Snyder said, including members of Congress, had interpreted the plan as calling for the use of American troops in labor battalions.

"There is ample Korean labor willing to participate in this work," Snyder said.

Defense Primary Mission

"The primary mission of our military personnel there is defense. They are going to be rested, trained, and kept in a high degree of combat readiness."

"Examples of the kinds of technical assistance they will provide: 'Engineers will assist in constructing bridges to restore the flow of commerce and medical units will undertake disease control measures.'"

Saltonstall told the Senate that remarks attributed to Secretary of State Dulles about use of troops for the reconstruction of war-shattered South Korea probably did not reflect what he had in mind.

"He has weakened the position of America in Europe," Reuther declared. "The CIO has always fought against McCarthyism and will continue to do so."

Crash Landing Kills 4 On Plane

PARIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—A French pilot belly-landed his disabled Air France Constellation on a beach in Southwest Turkey today, saving the lives of 38 of the 42 persons aboard, including those of an American mother and her child.

The pilot, Capt. Raymond Terry, sent out an SOS early this morning saying his two left engines had failed and that he was about to make a crash landing near the tiny island of Kastellorizon, off Southern Turkey.

Instead, he nursed the huge plane toward Fethiye, on the Gulf of Makri, to the northwest, and nosed it toward the beach. He landed in the water close enough to shore for the momentum to carry it onto the beach. Four passengers were killed and three were injured.

All eight members of the crew, including the skipper, survived.

The American passenger was Mrs. Marjorie Clark Yahyavi, of Portland, Ore., who was returning with her child from the United States to Tehran, Iran, to join her Iranian husband. The accident occurred on her 27th birthday.

Knowland Forces Election Today Of GOP Senate Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland of California won a test of strength within the Senate Republican Policy Committee today when he defeated an effort to delay election of a majority leader to succeed the late Sen. Taft of Ohio.

Despite pleas of Sen. Bridges (NH), top ranking Republican in service, and Sen. McCarthy (Wis), the GOP Policy Committee upheld its plans for election of Taft's successor at 1 p. m., EST tomorrow.

Nation's Leaders Attend Memorial Service For Taft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fallen Sen. Robert A. Taft received today a last full measure of homage from leaders of a mighty nation at a state funeral beneath the Capitol dome.

A Congress in which the Ohioan became almost a one-man institution paused in its adjournment rush and gathered with President Eisenhower, high dignitaries of government, the Taft family and friends for solemn memorial rites in the vast, circular rotunda.

Body Flown To Cincinnati

Prayers, a single warm tribute, the national anthem—that was all. Yet in this simple service, Taft was honored as one of his countrymen have been before him.

After it was over, the unopened bronze casket was carried slowly down the massive front steps of the Capitol to the plaza where hundreds of ordinary folk were assembled. It was then taken to the National Airport for flight to Cincinnati and a private funeral and burial tomorrow.

Mrs. Taft, four sons and their wives followed an hour later in a private plane of the Chase National Bank of New York.

The Senate Republican leader died of cancer Friday in New York. Yesterday his body lay in state in the center of the Capitol rotunda while tens of thousands wended by to honor him.

Final Tribute Offered

Today the casket and the catafalque on which it rested was moved to the west side of the great central room of the Capitol and the people who knew Taft best in official and personal life crowded in to offer their final tribute.

Senate members, and then those of the House, entered in a body. Chief Justice Vinson and other Supreme Court justices, Cabinet members, America's military chiefs, ambassadors and ministers of other lands were escorted into the chamber.

Freedom Gate Due To Swing Open Tonight

Red Cross Teams Enter Red Korea To Greet Captives

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 4 (AP)—Allied prisoners were assembling just back of the Bamboo Curtain today for the opening of the first post armistice exchange of prisoners of war tomorrow (tonight EST).

Emphasizing the imminence of the hour, an Allied Red Cross task force jeeps through the Bamboo Curtain for the first free world glimpse of North Korea since the war began three years ago.

The 30-man team, including nine Americans, was armed only with comfort packages for the 12,763 Allied captives to be exchanged. There are 3,313 Americans in this group. Some Americans undoubtedly will be exchanged tomorrow. The Reds will turn over 400 disabled non-Koreans then.

Merch Teams Cross Paths

The Red Cross team was headed for the Yalu River boundary between Manchuria and North Korea, where prison camps are now being emptied of their prisoners.

Given admittance only grudgingly, the Reds stipulated that only Communist military personnel be permitted to distribute Red Cross food and comfort packets.

Simultaneously Communist Red Cross workers were due to fly southward to see 74,000 Red Korean and Chinese prisoners in Allied stockades.

The mercy teams planned to cross paths at neutral Panmunjom at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. Monday, EST).

Final preparations were being rushed to give the first 400 returning American and Allied prisoners a heartfelt welcome when they start through freedom gate at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Presumably the first group of Allied captives reached Kaesong by train last night, Kaesong, the advanced Red truck headquarters, is within 15 miles of Panmunjom.

400 To Be Returned Daily

Communist correspondents at Panmunjom said the Allied repatriates probably would be housed in the same brick school house buildings the Communists used for sick and wounded prisoners exchanged last April.

Once the exchange begins to flow, the Reds have agreed to hand back at the rate of 400 daily some 8,186 South Koreans, 922 British and 342 prisoners from nine other Allied countries in addition to the Americans. All but 500 were reported in sound physical condition.

In exchange, the Communists will receive 69,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese at the rate of 2,400 alive bodied and 360 sick and wounded daily. About 3,000 Reds were reported ill.

Another North-South exchange of neutral watchdog teams to supervise 10 Allied and Communist ports of entry is due to start Saturday.

Korea Prepares To Salute Dulles

SEOUL, Tuesday, Aug. 4 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles was due to arrive from Washington today for five days of important post-armistice conferences with President Syngman Rhee, unhappy partner in the Korean truce.

A warm welcome and a 19-gun salute by South Korean artillerymen awaited Dulles when his plane sets down about noon (10 p. m. Monday, EST).

It is Dulles' first visit to Korea since Dec. 16, 1951, when it appeared a truce with the Reds was imminent. At that time Dulles assured Rhee that efforts for a unified Korea would continue even if the war were called off. His mission today was much the same.

Traveling with Dulles were Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations; Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, who made a special truce mission only last month for President Eisenhower to confer with Rhee; Assistant Secretary of State Carl McCordle and Kenneth Young, State Department expert on Northeast Asia affairs.

Prisoner Exchange To Bring Outpouring Of News To U.S.

Reception Camp Linked To Tokyo By Phone, Radio

MUNSAN, Tuesday, Aug. 4 (AP)—A tremendous flow of news copy will begin to pour from Korea tomorrow when the first Allied prisoners of war emerge from behind the Bamboo Curtain.

The first prisoner is expected to step off a Communist truck at 9 a.m. (7 p.m. Tuesday, EST) at the United Nations Command reception camp just south of the truce town of Panmunjom.

Within minutes, his name will be flashed around the world.

The Korean village of Panmunjom will be linked directly to Tokyo by Army communication lines.

From Japan, news, pictures and radio broadcasts will be relayed instantly on commercial circuits across the Pacific.

Direct Lines To Tokyo

The reception camp, adorned with "Welcome Gate to Freedom" signs, is linked to Tokyo by two direct telephone lines and a radio circuit.

The radio circuit will have a connection with Panmunjom and Freedom Village. Radio correspondents will switch back and forth for their accounts of the story.

Plans still are being polished for press coverage and it is possible that some of the scheduled facilities may not be available.

At all spots where communications are available, the U. N. Command has stationed censors who will give immediate attention to the flood of copy. They will monitor news services' dictated stories from the exchange site and listen in on the live radio broadcasts.

Reds To Furnish Rosters

Over the lines will speed a running story of the dramatic opening of Operation Big Switch, as the prisoner exchange is called by the Army.

The Communists will furnish rosters with each group of returning men. A U. S. soldier will call out each man's name as he steps down from the truck.

In view of worldwide interest, the Army is foregoing its usual practice of withholding names until next of kin are notified.

The running story of the emotion-packed exchange will begin before the first prisoner reaches Panmunjom. The sight of the first Communist convoy rumbling down the dusty road from Kaesong will be the signal that Operation Big Switch has begun. That should come about 8:50 in the morning.

VFW Requested To Oppose China Entry Into U. N.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars was asked today to go on record opposing admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Rep. James Van Zandt (R-Pa.), 3-time commander in chief of the VFW, told the 54th annual national encampment in his keynote address:

"We have always been against any appeasement of communism and the admission of Red China to the United Nations would be appeasement."

Substituting for Vice President Nixon, who was unable to appear here because of Sen. Taft's funeral in Washington, Van Zandt said he wanted the encampment to recommend that the United States "tell the world that the next time aggression develops, we will use our stock pile of atomic bombs, which is being increased daily."

"In 1933," he said, "long before Joe McCarthy became eligible for the VFW and long before he began to manhandle the termites whom we call Communists, this organization was fighting communism."

"We believe any organization, regardless of class or creed, or any person who aids or assists communism in any way, should be investigated."

"We especially believe those ministers who have resisted military training and maintenance of an adequate national defense should be investigated."

Several Auto Plants' Assembly Lines Idle

DETROIT, Aug. 3 (AP)—The auto industry's August operations got off to a slow start today as assembly lines were idle in several plants.

Chrysler and Packard were closed. Their suspensions were announced as due to inventory-taking and not in any way connected with new model work. Shutdowns for new model changeovers will come later.

Meanwhile General Motors' five car divisions and Ford's three divisions carry the major share of the production load. In the first half of this year GM plants accounted for more than 47 per cent of the industry's output and Ford turned out in excess of 21 per cent.

Hammaraskjold Pledges To Curb Politics In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammaraskjold promised today to do his best to keep U. N. employees out of national politics. At the same time, he expressed the hope that member governments would not resort to pressures to influence the Secretariat.

Hammaraskjold's views were outlined in his first annual report to the 60-nation General Assembly in which he put forward a 5-point program for strengthening the U. N.

One of the essentials, he said, is that the development of "a truly international civil service, free from all national pressures and influences, should be recognized, not only in words, but in deeds."

Without mentioning any country by name, Hammaraskjold added that this principle had not been given the significance it should have in the policies of member governments.

At another point in his report, however, he reviewed — without comment — the problem of alleged U. S. subversives in the Secretariat which plagued his predecessor, Trygve Lie. Some countries charged that the U. S. was exerting undue pressure on Lie.

"The international civil service should be left free from national pressures of any sort," he said. "The United Nations itself cannot be fully effective in its appointed functions except under these conditions."

32 Legislators Support Bill To Revise Immigration Law

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Eight senators and 24 House members—all Democrats except Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore)—today introduced a bulky bill to overhaul the nation's immigration laws.

Aimed at wiping out the controversial McCarran-Walter Act, passed last year over former President Truman's veto, the new measure would raise the number of quota immigrants admissible each year from 154,000 to about 251,000.

It also would abolish the widely-criticized national origins system under which each nation's share of immigrants is based on the makeup of the U. S. population in 1920. This would be replaced with a "unified quota system."

The new proposal presumably will bring down a storm of protest from staunch supporters of the McCarran-Walter Act. But that may not come until next year, when the new measure would come up for consideration.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) issued a statement on behalf of the sponsors saying the bill is aimed at carrying out pledges made last year by President Eisenhower and his Democratic opponent for the presidency, Adlai Stevenson. Both had declared sections of the McCarran-Walter Act discriminatory and in need of revision.

The new proposal, Lehman said,

would offer a "friendly welcome for immigrants without discrimination or bias" and would "reflect the true American tradition of justice under the law."

The statement added that full security would be provided against "subversives and other undesirable aliens" while "raising the red tape curtain which is now lowered against the entry of aliens, either as immigrants or visitors."

Rickover's Promotion To Admiral Confirmed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of Navy Capt. Hyman G. Rickover, atomic propulsion expert, to the temporary rank of rear admiral.

Several members of Congress protested earlier this year because Rickover was passed over for admiral's rank by a Navy selection board. This would have forced him to retire but Navy Secretary Anderson made special provision for him to stay on and get another chance to promotion.

Rickover, a native of Chicago, is credited with playing the leading role in development of the atomic submarine.

At another point in his report, however, he reviewed — without comment — the problem of alleged U. S. subversives in the Secretariat which plagued his predecessor, Trygve Lie. Some countries charged that the U. S. was exerting undue pressure on Lie.

"The international civil service should be left free from national pressures of any sort," he said. "The United Nations itself cannot be fully effective in its appointed functions except under these conditions."

32 Legislators Support Bill To Revise Immigration Law

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Eight senators and 24 House members—all Democrats except Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore)—today introduced a bulky bill to overhaul the nation's immigration laws.

Aimed at wiping out the controversial McCarran-Walter Act, passed last year over former President Truman's veto, the new measure would raise the number of quota immigrants admissible each year from 154,000 to about 251,000.

It also would abolish the widely-criticized national origins system under which each nation's share of immigrants is based on the makeup of the U. S. population in 1920. This would be replaced with a "unified quota system."

The new proposal presumably will bring down a storm of protest from staunch supporters of the McCarran-Walter Act. But that may not come until next year, when the new measure would come up for consideration.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) issued a statement on behalf of the sponsors saying the bill is aimed at carrying out pledges made last year by President Eisenhower and his Democratic opponent for the presidency, Adlai Stevenson. Both had declared sections of the McCarran-Walter Act discriminatory and in need of revision.

The new proposal, Lehman said,

would offer a "friendly welcome for immigrants without discrimination or bias" and would "reflect the true American tradition of justice under the law."

The statement added that full security would be provided against "subversives and other undesirable aliens" while "raising the red tape curtain which is now lowered against the entry of aliens, either as immigrants or visitors."

Rickover's Promotion To Admiral Confirmed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of Navy Capt. Hyman G. Rickover, atomic propulsion expert, to the temporary rank of rear admiral.

Several members of Congress protested earlier this year because Rickover was passed over for admiral's rank by a Navy selection board. This would have forced him to retire but Navy Secretary Anderson made special provision for him to stay on and get another chance to promotion.

Rickover, a native of Chicago, is credited with playing the leading role in development of the atomic submarine.

Malathon Doing Well New Insecticide Is Used To Battle DDT-Resistant Flies In Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Aug. 3 (AP)—A new insecticide is being used to battle DDT-resistant flies in Maryland, an expert on insects reported today.

Dr. Ernest N. Cory, State entomologist at the University of Maryland, said the anti-fly campaign is being waged with malathon in a sweet bait.

But he said fundamentally the way to get rid of flies is through simple sanitation measures. Clean up around homes and farms, he said. Get rid of garbage and other refuse.

Dr. Cory said that right after World War II, flies in Maryland were on the decrease because of DDT.

"But it wasn't very long before the flies became resistant to DDT," he said. "When people found this out they began to ease off on the use of the preventative. Now we have more flies than ever."

As for the use of malathon against flies, Dr. Cory said "it seems to be doing well but we don't know how long it will last or how soon the flies will develop resistance to it."

$600 Taken In Two Baltimore Holdups

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Bandits in two robberies today got $600 from a loan office and from an insurance collector.

Two Negroes wearing sunglasses and gaudy golfing caps held up a Friendly Finance Co. office and got away with about $500 after locking three employees and a customer in a bathroom. Police believe they are the same pair who got $1,400 last week at another loan office.

Clerk-Cashier Edyth Zook said one of the bandits leveled a pistol at her and scooped up the $500.

Albert M. Moog, insurance collector, said he was attacked by three Negro youths, dragged into an alley and robbed of $100 just after noon. He was treated for head injuries at University Hospital.

Eisenhower Proclaims Fire Prevention Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower today called on Americans to "initiate a year-round campaign in their homes and communities against the needless waste of life and property in fires."

The President proclaimed the week of Oct. 4 as fire prevention week.

The custom of shaking hands originated in ancient times when it was used to show that neither party was armed.

Towson Motorists Snub Park Meters

TOWSON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Motorists snubbed Towson's new parking meters today.

The coin boxes virtually went begging as drivers parked in non-metered areas. It was one of the results county officials hoped for. Normally, a hundred or more cars are parked around the courthouse by 10:30 a. m. most of them to be there all day. Today only a dozen, or so showed up.

One of the reasons for the meters was to break up the practice of city workers using a large number of the parking spaces all day. In other cases, motorists came in from the county, parked and took the streetcar into Baltimore.

Two Baltimoreans Held On Rape Charge

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Two men were being held on rape and perverted-practice charges today in connection with the case of two girls who said they were kept for a week in an apartment while a gang repeatedly assaulted them.

The girls were 11 and 13. The case was being studied by the grand jury. Police indicated there may be more arrests.

Held without bail on rape charges was George Baccalla, 24. Held in $10,000 bail on a charge of perverted practice was Philip Sudano, 22. The police Missing Persons Bureau was notified by the families of the girls when they failed to return home after going for a walk the night of July 21. Finally, police said, one of the girls left the apartment, went home and her parents notified the other girl's family.

TAFT'S BODY ARRIVES FOR BURIAL—The casket containing the body of Sen. Robert A. Taft is shown being lifted from the military transport plane at Greater Cincinnati airport after its arrival from Washington, where state funeral services were held yesterday. Services and burial will be held in Indian Hill, Cincinnati suburb, this morning.

D'Alesandro's Home Guarded

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Two mysterious telephone threats were reported at the home of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro today as police investigated a burglary attempt there over the weekend.

Mrs. Rose Griffin, a Negro maid, said she and her daughter took two calls.

A male voice said: "What the hell are you doing there? Get out!"

And on the second call the same voice said: "Get the hell out."

Her report sent a swarm of detectives and prowler car patrolmen to the mayor's residence in Baltimore's "Little Italy."

Police decided to resume their 24-hour guard there. It was instituted last winter when the mayor got into a bitter controversy with striking city garbage collectors. It had been discontinued when the mayor and his wife and three of their children went to Europe for a vacation several weeks ago.

The D'Alesandros are due to dock in New York tomorrow on their way home and the mayor said in a ship-to-shore telephone conversation today he could throw no light on the attempted burglary.

Pinch Ahead For Draftees

Male teen-agers nearing draft age may as well adjust themselves to spending two years in service, according to Selective Service officials. Even if a peace should develop out of the truce in Korea, these officials take a dim view of the prospects of escaping military service for those about to become draft-eligible.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said on July 21 that a truce in Korea might bring draft call reductions of 5,000 to 6,000 a month within 90 days of signing. The call for September, already announced, is 23,000. The same rate had been established for successive months since June, when the quota was 32,000. From February through May, the monthly call had been for 53,000.

Instead of falling, draft quotas might be doubled within a year, General Hershey, director of Selective Service, said in San Francisco on July 27: "It is unfortunate that we should get the young people to believing their plans for the future hinge on the truce. . . . I would tell these young people Congress has placed a two-year obligation on them, and they are going to live up to it."

Even the more optimistic manpower experts in the Defense Department look for a sharp pinch in service manpower within 30 months. Selective Service officials, watching the potential defense manpower pool steadily ebb, see the pinch as arriving even sooner, at least within the fiscal year 1953-54.

A sharp pinch, as General Hershey predicted in San Francisco, would require either a new Presidential directive on draft standards or a change in the draft law. Deferred at present are some 1,135,000 in Class 3-A (fathers and hardship cases) and some 1,708,000 in 4-F (below standard physically, mentally, or morally).

A considerably smaller number of students have been deferred. The present pool of deferred in colleges and universities, including graduate students, stands at about 177,000, as against some 300,000 in ROTC. These are students who have achieved deferment on performance in Selective Service tests or on class standing.

Another group of some 79,000 enjoy automatic deferment as first-year college students. High school students have automatic deferment until graduation or until reaching the age of 20, whichever is sooner; those deferred at present number some 115,000.

In the Korean War period—which Selective Service officials place as beginning for their purposes in September 1950 and running through the present—some 1,463,685 men have been drafted, almost all for the Army. Some 81,430 of these men were drafted for the Marines in the period from August 1, 1951 through June 30, 1952.

The present authority for conscription expires on July 1, 1955. Registration is required at 18 years of age; the service age is 18½.

Changes in the rotation program for service men will affect draftees little. They must serve 24 months; they must receive four months' training before being assigned to ground units overseas; they can be kept overseas until their period of service runs its scheduled course.

In Focus Again

The battle in the television industry as to what form color television should take seems to be ending with announcement by the Columbia Broadcasting System that it is about to get back into focus with the other segments of TV.

Specifically, CBS has decided to give up its own system of color television broadcasts to join up with the remainder of the industry in pushing the "compatible" system of color TV broadcasting. It had maintained that compatible color was inferior.

Thus black and white set owners will be able to view the experimental CBS color television programs on their present sets.

It was three years ago that the Federal Communications Commission made an amazing decision. The FCC felt compelled to make a choice between a rather cumbersome system of color television reception which had been developed by CBS and another system (only partially developed) which was being championed by the Radio Corporation of America. Many congressmen were certain Congress had never given the FCC power to meddle in affairs of this sort.

The great difference in the two systems was in the fact that the RCA system was "compatible"—could be picked up in monochrome on present sets—while the CBS system could not. Both the FCC and CBS found they had the preponderance of the television industry, and considerable public opinion, ranged against them.

As improvements were made in the color reception tube by RCA and other manufacturers, the error of the FCC's decision became more apparent. The public can feel relief that, after having gotten off to such a poor start with the aid of the FCC, the television industry is now heading in a direction that promises benefits to television fans.

More Work For Atom

Reading between the lines of the Atomic Energy Commission's semi-annual report, the definite impression is inescapable that all goes exceedingly well in this new field of governmental activity.

Thus the country is approaching "first major production" of materials for hydrogen bombs; development of atomic weapons has "substantially advanced" during the first half of 1953; more fissionable material was produced than in any previous six months, and blueprints are in hand for a new atom engine that will drive submarines at "significantly" higher speeds.

But it is not only to weapons of war that the commission devotes attention. Concerning peacetime use of atomic power, assurances are given that new atomic furnaces have been developed to the point where they produce more fuel than they burn. This means, in the commission's own words, that economically competitive atomic electricity "seems achievable in the foreseeable future."

All in all, it's an encouraging report that the commission makes — encouraging in the sense that a steady—in fact, rapid—growth of the nation's atomic arsenal is clearly indicated and also because the possibility of harnessing the atom for commercial purposes is not being neglected.

Announcement that new atomic tests will be staged in the Pacific this fall has started a train of speculation in which the hydrogen bomb, incalculably more powerful than the atom bomb, also figures prominently.

Tomorrow's Leader: The Gifted Child

Geniuses have contributed so much to our joys and pleasures that their efforts should be encouraged and directed rather than suppressed. This view is taken by many educators who feel that the future may depend upon how we handle our gifted youngsters.

After all, men like Edison, Burns, Keats, and Napoleon are few and far between, yet in their respective fields they influenced the lives of millions. Who knows whether another genius is sitting in a classroom in some grammar school today? With the right break and training he may be the one who will save our country from defeat in the next war or invent a labor saving device beyond our present comprehension.

The genius has not always been held in esteem. This group at one time was thought to consist of misfits and part of this misconception stems from studies made more than a century ago by writers who felt that genius was synonymous with emotional disorders. In one study of British men of genius, for example, a trace of insanity was reported in hundreds of cases. The social misfits and poorly adjusted were cited as typical examples. They were discredited by being called weak, physically inferior, immoral, and highly nervous. We now know that this is not characteristic of gifted children. They are not immune to emotional instability and mental illness, however, especially when their high I. Q. is not recognized or they are thwarted in the development of their mental resources.

A story was told some years ago by Dr. Benjamin B. Greenberg of a 9 year old boy who often had to go to bed in a feverish state and close to a nervous collapse. According to his parents, he was crying more than usual and was rude to and shy of people. His teacher noticed he was quarrelsome, pugnacious, and inattentive and considered him subnormal. Then a higher school authority discovered that the child was an intellectual giant which gave the clue that third grade reading, writing, and spelling were far below his capacity. Further study revealed that the lad gave promise of becoming a good violinist and vocalist. He had rapid reading ability, a photographic mind, and a phenomenal memory concerning animal life. The boy had traveled extensively and his family background consisted of cultural and diplomatic service. As soon as this boy was placed in an advanced class he became a leader and contributed greatly to programs requiring creative ability.

The mental status of these gifted children must be recognized. The majority of these youngsters learn faster and remember longer. Their greatest and most universal interest is reading and nonfiction is preferred to emotional stories. They seek tasks rather than avoid them and are willing to give and receive help when necessary. They are sensitive and hate to be singled out as some one special. These boys and girls are well rounded and have creative ability and imagination but their emotional make-up requires special care. Once their mental status is recognized, parents and teachers must cooperate to develop the talents of these youngsters to the fullest.

Secretary Hobby Wanted Less Funds For Medical Research; With Four Senators Dead Of Cancer, Congress Overruled Mrs. Hobby

WASHINGTON — While Senator Taft was fighting for his life in a New York hospital, a matter involving a cure for cancer came up in Congress which disturbed his Senate colleagues.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, sent a letter to Director Joe Dodge of the Budget Bureau indicating that her budget for cancer research alone be cut by some $5,000,000 and asking that her total budget of medical research be cut by $10,000,000.

It seemed to senators that this was a matter of balancing the budget at the expense of human life.

The proposed Truman budget for medical research was $70,000,000. But the efficient Mrs. Hobby, earlier in the year, had drastically cut this to $44,000,000. Disagreeing, the Senate upped the figure to $59,000,000.

It was this increase by the Senate which brought Mrs. Hobby's objection. Writing to Budget Director Dodge on July 11, she called attention to the fact that the Senate was voting more money for her department than the House of Representatives. Of this, she said, "more than $10,000,000 is in the area of medical research."

"The larger increases suggested," continued Secretary Hobby, "might tend to discourage participation by private or other non-federal funds. Therefore, the House levels of appropriation in the medical research field would seem to deserve consideration."

Tragedy is that private fund-raising for medical research has never been remotely adequate. Walter Winchell, who has faithfully plugged for cancer research for years, has only been able to raise $5,000,000 in that time. In comparison, Congress has voted approximately $20,000,000 for cancer every year.

Mrs. Hobby proposed that cancer money be reduced this year to $15,780,000, which was a cut of $6,220,000 from the Truman budget.

With Senator Taft dying and with three other senators out of four dead of cancer in the past three years — Wherry of Nebraska, Vandenberg of Michigan and McMahon of Connecticut — Congress in the end voted against Mrs. Hobby. They voted $20,237,000 for cancer — about what Truman had proposed.

Taft's Illness

The tragic death of Senator Taft has revived the question, very much discussed since Roosevelt's death, of physical examinations for candidates for the presidency and vice presidency.

Following the death of President Roosevelt just five months after his election in 1944, it was charged that those close to him knew his health was failing and that he could not possibly last four years. It was charged that the big-city bosses, knowing this, had maneuvered to put their friend Harry Truman in the vice presidency.

Senator Taft was not in the same category. No one dreamed he was ailing. He appeared to be in excellent health when a candidate for the presidency last year. His case is more like that of Wendell Willkie, who died suddenly in the fall of 1944.

Nevertheless, if Taft had undergone a thorough physical examination before the Chicago convention it might have been possible to detect the beginning of his malignant illness and might have saved him.

Last summer the idea was also expressed that both Eisenhower and Stevenson should undergo physical examinations by doctors from the Public Health Service so that the voters might know if there was any great possibility of Nixon or Sparkman taking over during the next four years.

It was known by a few people but not by the public that Eisenhower had a heart condition which required him to be careful; and since entering the White House his doctor has ordered him to take long weekends and golf three times a week.

Unfortunately, the strain on any man in the White House is so great that in recent years the life expectancy of our presidents has decreased. That's why the tragic death of Senator Taft has brought to a head the question of requiring all candidates for the presidency to undergo a thorough physical examination with the general results made known prior to the nomination conventions.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON — When "Mr. Republican" died, did the Republican party die, too?

This is the fateful question which really challenges the political world today as the memory of beloved Bob Taft is honored by the nation. The widespread praises for his fairness, sincerity, forthrightness and intellectual integrity sound strange, indeed, when read in the light of what was being said and written about the Ohio Senator by his opponents not only a year ago but just a few short weeks ago as he advocated, in his speech at Cincinnati, a foreign policy based on truly American principles.

Had Bob Taft lived he might have shaped the Republican party into an effective expression of the wishes of a majority of true Americans. When the senator learned that recovery of his health was doubtful, his chief lament was that he could not help the President for whom he had developed a real affection. Taft wished he could be spared. For, as he said to a friend, "Ike needs me."

President Eisenhower, to be sure, has needed the advice and counsel of Senator Taft especially in these last few weeks. For "Ike," the man of genial personality and high sense of duty, is new and untried in politics and civil government. He already has shown signs of inexperience, if not gullibility, as so-called "liberals" have forced him into dilemma after dilemma so that the Republican party is almost as sharply divided again as it was before the national convention of 1952.

No Replacement Now

Taft is dead — but the millions of voters who wanted him last year to win the presidential nomination are not dead. They were for Taft's principles, first, and for him as a man, second, because he espoused and fitted those principles. It is a following more militant than ever in seeking to have the Republican party become not just an extension of the Truman-Acheson administration but a truly Republican administration. If unsuccessful this large group of Republicans will inevitably be compelled to build a new party with help from the South and give up the name Republican as the Whigs gave up their name 100 years ago.

Who is there to do battle now in the councils of the White House where the future of the Republican party is to be decided? Who will speak now for the true Republicanism as Congress and the country witness "the struggle for Eisenhower's mind" — the realistic phrase written by Mayor Clark of Philadelphia, "liberal" Democrat, a few weeks ago? That question may not be answered soon because there is at present no other Republican of Taft's ability or prestige.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AISOP

The Republican Future

WASHINGTON

In Sen. Taft, the orthodox Republican party has lost its towering figure. You have to go a very long way back in American history—perhaps as far as the time of Clay and Webster—to find the American political scene being dominated and influenced in the Taft manner by any political leader who did not have the resources of the White House at his disposal.

What made Taft's achievement all the more remarkable, was that his power stemmed directly from his fine qualities. Those who disagreed with him, just as much as those who agreed, had to acknowledge his strong character, inexhaustible industry, hatred of sham and pretense and deep Americanism.

His going has left a hole so big that a great many Republicans, who rather naturally tended to have a sort of father complex about him, are frankly wondering whether their party can carry on successfully without Taft.

The answer to that question must of course be given by Dwight D. Eisenhower. Now, more than ever, his party's future as well as the nation's future is in the President's hands. And this makes the now situation remarkably interesting, for it can be stated on unquestioned authority that one of the President's highest and most often stated aims is to remake the Republican party in a new image.

Eisenhower's way of putting it is to say he wants to move his party over towards the political center. It is to be the conservative party still, for the President is a very conservative man himself. But it is to be more moderately conservative at home, following the line that Sen. Taft himself laid out. It is to be more aware of world realities, and more ready to respond to challenges abroad. And above all, the loudest Republican noises are no longer to be made by the Republican extremists.

In other words, Eisenhower's aim for the national Republican party is to do approximately what Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has so brilliantly done in New York State, where the Republicans have recaptured their old place as the majority party. But Eisenhower being Eisenhower, his methods have no tincture of Dewey's impatience and ruthlessness.

Even with his own cabinet, Eisenhower has been patient. As the wisest among them are frank to admit, the big businessmen in the cabinet had hardly an inkling of the size, the complexity, or even the general shape of the basic national problems when they came to Washington. The President must have been tempted at times to rush his colleagues a little—to tell them

Bob Taft was denounced by partisans as "behind the times." He was actually ahead of his times. He foresaw the possibility of making the Republican party into a living expression of an American policy that was neither reactionary nor addicted to fuzzy "liberalism." He advanced constructive proposals of his own on federal aid to education, public housing and health.

On matters of foreign policy, Taft did not believe in allowing American sovereignty to be whittled away by deviating from the original objective of the United Nations. He saw the UN as a federation of sovereignties and not as a super-state in which American boys could be ordered at will by foreign governments to any part of the globe. He didn't favor making pawns of American soldiers on the battlefields of either Asia or Europe. He admired the "sturdy Americanism" of a MacArthur and deplored the British influence on American officials which prevented a vigorous Americanism in the Far Eastern war. He was against boondoggling of American billions abroad. He will be vindicated in the next decade of history—for he was American to the core.

"Mr. American"

Europeans as well as some groups of Americans misunderstood and distorted the Taft philosophy and record. Most of the labor-union leaders in America and their publications and almost all the so-called "liberals" preached a hymn of hate about the author of the Taft-Hartley Act. They called it a "slave labor" law though it merely served as balance wheel to the one-sided Wagner Law. Some few of those who fought Taft in his 1950 campaign for re-election as senator went to extremes in an effort to smear him. They circulated a picture of him taken many years before when he appeared on a platform to debate with a Communist speaker. They sought by this maneuver to give the impression that he condoned or fraternized with Communists. Some of his labor opponents went so far as to use campaign posters making a display of the senator's initials—"R.A.T." Such are the tragic penalties in the lifetime of a political figure.

But what is the verdict now? Here and there are some cautious comments or some flippant damnings with faint praise by New Deal writers but almost everywhere else there is universal acclaim for one of the greatest senators in the history of the United States. He will rank with Clay, Webster and Calhoun. For Robert Alphonso Taft has earned the most deserving epitaph that could be engraved today on the tombstone of a man in public service: "He was 'Mr. American.'"

Pinch Ahead For Draftees

Male teen-agers nearing draft age may as well adjust themselves to spending two years in service, according to Selective Service officials. Even if a peace should develop out of the truce in Korea, these officials take a dim view of the prospects of escaping military service for those about to become draft-eligible.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said on July 21 that a truce in Korea might bring draft call reductions of 5,000 to 6,000 a month within 90 days of signing. The call for September, already announced, is 23,000. The same rate had been established for successive months since June, when the quota was 32,000. From February through May, the monthly call had been for 53,000.

Instead of falling, draft quotas might be doubled within a year, General Hershey, director of Selective Service, said in San Francisco on July 27: "It is unfortunate that we should get the young people to believing their plans for the future hinge on the truce. . . I would tell these young people Congress has placed a two-year obligation on them, and they are going to live up to it."

Even the more optimistic manpower experts in the Defense Department look for a sharp pinch in service manpower within 30 months. Selective Service officials, watching the potential defense manpower pool steadily ebb, see the pinch as arriving even sooner, at least within the fiscal year 1953-54.

A sharp pinch, as General Hershey predicted in San Francisco, would require either a new Presidential directive on draft standards or a change in the draft law. Deferred at present are some 1,135,000 in Class 3-A (fathers and hardship cases) and some 1,708,000 in 4-F (below standard physically, mentally, or morally).

A considerably smaller number of students have been deferred. The present pool of deferred in colleges and universities, including graduate students, stands at about 177,000, as against some 300,000 in ROTC. These are students who have achieved deferment on performance in Selective Service tests or on class standing.

Another group of some 79,000 enjoy automatic deferment as first-year college students. High school students have automatic deferment until graduation or until reaching the age of 20, whichever is sooner; those deferred at present number some 115,000.

In the Korean War period—which Selective Service officials place as beginning for their purposes in September 1950 and running through the present—some 1,463,685 men have been drafted, almost all for the Army. Some 81,430 of these men were drafted for the Marines in the period from August 1, 1951 through June 30, 1952.

The present authority for conscription expires on July 1, 1955. Registration is required at 18 years of age; the service age is 18½.

Changes in the rotation program for service men will affect draftees little. They must serve 24 months; they must receive four months' training before being assigned to ground units overseas; they can be kept overseas until their period of service runs its scheduled course.

In Focus Again

The battle in the television industry as to what form color television should take seems to be ending with announcement by the Columbia Broadcasting System that it is about to get back into focus with the other segments of TV.

Specifically, CBS has decided to give up its own system of color television broadcasts to join up with the remainder of the industry in pushing the "compatible" system of color TV broadcasting. It had maintained that compatible color was inferior.

Thus black and white set owners will be able to view the experimental CBS color television programs on their present sets.

It was three years ago that the Federal Communications Commission made an amazing decision. The FCC felt compelled to make a choice between a rather cumbersome system of color television reception which had been developed by CBS and another system (only partially developed) which was being championed by the Radio Corporation of America. Many congressmen were certain Congress had never given the FCC power to meddle in affairs of this sort.

The great difference in the two systems was in the fact that the RCA system was "compatible"—could be picked up in monochrome on present sets—while the CBS system could not. Both the FCC and CBS found they had the preponderance of the television industry, and considerable public opinion, ranged against them.

As improvements were made in the color reception tube by RCA and other manufacturers, the error of the FCC's decision became more apparent. The public can feel relief that, after having gotten off to such a poor start with the aid of the FCC, the television industry is now heading in a direction that promises benefits to television fans.

More Work For Atom

Reading between the lines of the Atomic Energy Commission's semi-annual report, the definite impression is inescapable that all goes exceedingly well in this new field of governmental activity.

Thus the country is approaching "first major production" of materials for hydrogen bombs; development of atomic weapons has "substantially advanced" during the first half of 1953; more fissionable material was produced than in any previous six months, and blueprints are in hand for a new atom engine that will drive submarines at "significantly" higher speeds.

But it is not only to weapons of war that the commission devotes attention. Concerning peacetime use of atomic power, assurances are given that new atomic furnaces have been developed to the point where they produce more fuel than they burn. This means, in the commission's own words, that economically competitive atomic electricity "seems achievable in the foreseeable future."

All in all, it's an encouraging report that the commission makes — encouraging in the sense that a steady—in fact, rapid—growth of the nation's atomic arsenal is clearly indicated and also because the possibility of harnessing the atom for commercial purposes is not being neglected.

Announcement that new atomic tests will be staged in the Pacific this fall has started a train of speculation in which the hydrogen bomb, incalculably more powerful than the atom bomb, also figures prominently.

WASHINGTON

In Sen. Taft, the orthodox Republican party has lost its towering figure. You have to go a very long way back in American history—perhaps as far as the time of Clay and Webster—to find the American political scene being dominated and influenced in the Taft manner by any political leader who did not have the resources of the White House at his disposal.

What made Taft's achievement all the more remarkable, was that his power stemmed directly from his fine qualities. Those who disagreed with him, just as much as those who agreed, had to acknowledge his strong character, his exhaustive industry, hatred of sham and pretense and deep Americanism.

His going has left a hole so big that a great many Republicans, who rather naturally tended to have a sort of father complex about him, are frankly wondering whether their party can carry on successfully without Taft.

The answer to that question must of course be given by Dwight D. Eisenhower. Now, more than ever, his party's future as well as the nation's future is in the President's hands. And this makes the now situation remarkably interesting, for it can be stated on unquestioned authority that one of the President's highest and most often stated aims is to remake the Republican party in a new image.

Eisenhower's way of putting it is to say he wants to move his party over towards the political center. It is to be the conservative party still, for the President is a very conservative man himself. But it is to be more moderately conservative at home, following the line that Sen. Taft himself laid out. It is to be more aware of world realities, and more ready to respond to challenges abroad. And above all, the loudest Republican noises are no longer to be made by the Republican extremists.

In other words, Eisenhower's aim for the national Republican party is to do approximately what Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has so brilliantly done in New York State, where the Republicans have recaptured their old place as the majority party. But Eisenhower being Eisenhower, his methods have no tincture of Dewey's impatience and ruthlessness.

Even with his own cabinet, Eisenhower has been patient. As he wiser among them are frank to admit, the big businessmen in the cabinet had hardly an inkling of the size, the complexity, or even the general shape of the basic national problems when they came to Washington. The President must have been tempted at time to rush his colleagues a little—to tell them

Bob Taft was denounced by partisans as "behind the times." He was actually ahead of his times. He foresaw the possibility of making the Republican party into a living expression of an American policy that was neither reactionary nor addicted to fuzzy "liberalism." He advanced constructive proposals of his own on federal aid to education, public housing and health.

On matters of foreign policy, Taft did not believe in allowing American sovereignty to be whittled away by deviating from the original objective of the United Nations. He saw the UN as a federation of sovereignties and not as a super-state in which American boys could be ordered at will by foreign governments to any part of the globe. He didn't favor making pawns of American soldiers on the battlefields of either Asia or Europe. He admired the "sturdy Americanism of a MacArthur and deplored the British influence on American officials which prevented a vigorous Americanism in the Far Eastern war. He was against boondoggling of American billions abroad. He will be vindicated in the next decade of history—for he was American to the core.

"Mr. American"

Europeans as well as some groups of Americans misunderstood and distorted the Taft philosophy and record. Most of the labor-union leaders in America and their publications and almost all the so-called "liberals" preached a hymn of hate about the author of the Taft-Hartley Act. They called it a "slave labor" law though it merely served as balance wheel to the one-sided Wagner Law. Some few of those who fought Taft in his 1950 campaign for re-election as senator went to extremes in an effort to smear him. They circulated a picture of him taken many years before when he appeared on a platform to debate with a Communist speaker. They sought by this maneuver to give the impression that he was condoned or fraternized with Communists. Some of his labor opponents went so far as to use campaign posters making a display of the senator's initials—"R.A.T." Such are the tragic penalties in the lifetime of a political figure.

But what is the verdict now? Here and there are some cautious comments or some flippant damnings with faint praise by New Deal writers but almost everywhere else there is universal acclaim for one of the greatest senators in the history of the United States. He will rank with Clay, Webster and Calhoun. For Robert Alphonso Taft has earned the most deserving epitaph that could be engraved today on the tombstone of a man in public service: "He was 'Mr. American'."

Celanese Plant Plans Aired By Tokyo Agent

The possibility of Celanese Corporation of America participating in an acetate production project in Japan is much further from accomplished fact than the Japanese participants have stated, according to H. S. Reuben, manager of the Tokyo office of Reuben Import Export Corp., selling agent for Celanese in Tokyo.

Reuben said that he made this statement on the authority of George Schneider, Celanese senior vice-president, who has made several visits to Japan in recent months to work out plans for the project. Reports on progress of the negotiations have come entirely from the Japanese sources involved. Celanese Corporation has made no public statement as yet.

It is not yet clear whether the proposed acetate producing company would be able to import Celanese-made flake in the necessary quantities and at a price (after payment of duty) which would make the project economically feasible, Reuben said. Celanese definitely does not want to manufacture flake locally. Unless the duty is lowered and permission to import is guaranteed, Celanese will not go ahead with the plan, he added.

The Japanese participants — Dai Nippon Celluloid Co., Ltd., and Mitsubishi Rayon Co., Ltd. — are now negotiating with the Government on these crucial points, but have received no decision yet. It is understood that considerable pressure is being exerted on the government by domestic flake and acetate producers, who fear that imported flake from any source, which can be landed here cheaper than the domestic product, would put them out of business.

Celanese has not yet signed a contract with either Mitsubishi or Daicel, and it is not yet certain which of them (or possibly both) will participate. Therefore, the sponsors are in no position yet to submit a firm proposed arrange-

BE SURE TO GET GAME
WHENEVER you have so much strength that you want your side to be in a game contract, even if your partner held the weakest hand he could possibly have for any action he had already taken, it is unsound to bid tentatively. A call which you would then consider almost certain to evoke further action from him is not adequate, so long as it gives him any chance at all of passing. Your responsibility is to find some bid which makes a game contract an absolutely sure thing.

North's pass was obviously bad bridge, when he held four trumps at spades, together with a doubleton. He should have shown preference between the two declarations with 3-Spades, which South would have taken to four. But he felt that his hand was so weak, being strained to give one raise, that he was afraid to act again. Thus the taking of eleven tricks by South did not get his side a game.

Another thing North pointed out to the government for approval. The Japanese firms are correct, however, in their public statements on the factory plans. These plans have been worked out in detail, and construction can proceed immediately when an agreement is reached, Reuben said.

out, after the sad result, was that his partner might have a handful of doubtful power. It seemed that way to him when South bid only 2-No Trumps. Since his own few honors were in three different suits, he decided he had better leave it at 2-No Trumps.

But why in the world didn't South make sure of a game by bidding 3-No Trumps on his second turn? His only reason for bidding No Trumps at all was that this pair sometimes will raise a major suit opening with only three trumps to an honor. A game bid in No Trumps by South, instead of a spade rebid, would show his suit was of only four cards and ask North to pass unless he held four spades. Having four, any good player would take the 3-No Trumps to 4-Spades, in which eleven tricks also were makeable, due to finding the missing major suit honors in the East.

North End Tank Work Cited By Mayor

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday explained the apparent delay in erecting a large water tank for the North End section after Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan made inquiry at the weekly meeting of Mayor and Council.

A published picture of the tank last week carried the information that it was rusting, and that residents of the area affected were wondering what the delay was about.

Mayor Eves said he and City Engineer Charles Nuzum inspected the tank a few days ago and found a compound had been used to protect the interior, and that there was no great amount of rust on the exterior, at least not to the extent the tank was in a damaged condition.

The mayor said that upon checking with Water Commissioner William J. Edwards it was found the tank was delivered early in order that various measurements could be obtained prior to construction of concrete supports.

These concrete supports had to set 28 days, and Mayor Eves said work on the project will get underway in a few days.

The tank is a used one and blueprints of it were not available when purchased by the city. The work is being done by city workmen in order to keep down the cost of the project, Mayor Eves explained, and full crews of workmen have not always been available.

The 75,000 gallon water tank will provide the needed pressure for users of water in that hilly section of the city.

Commissioner Keegan said he had received numerous inquiries concerning the tank, and thought an explanation should be given in order to advise the residents of North End of the situation.

The report of the superintendent of the city water system shows the level in Lake Gordon is three feet, six inches below the crest, and in Lake Koon it is two feet below the crest.

A total of 100,560,000 gallons of water was consumed during the week ending yesterday as compared to 98,520,000 gallons for the same period last year. The daily average consumption was 14,365,000 gallons as compared to 14,072,000 for the same period last year.

$26,000 Budget Sought By Public Library

The Cumberland Free Public Library is requesting a budget of $26,000 for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, in her annual report to the Mayor and City Council yesterday, said a new heating plant is needed for the library and that this and additional shelving at the main library and two branches would total about $2,000 to make the entire budget $26,000, a slight increase over last year's figure.

The report listed a donation of $6,000 from W. Wallace McKaig for the purchase of books.

Miss Walsh said the gift enabled the library to buy many reference works which otherwise would not have been obtained.

A total of 4,316 books have been added during the past year and the library now has 53,136 volumes.

The more than 15,000 persons registered by the library used 146,234 volumes during the year.

A number of ordinances were passed by the Mayor and Council

Tragedy is haunting the family of a Cumberland woman.

Sgt. Abram D. Barley, 26, brother of Mrs. Edythe C. Roach, 1009 Michigan Avenue, was fatally injured July 27 when his car went out of control and crashed against a tractor-trailer on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, 25 miles east of Bedford.

The soldier, twice wounded and winner of the Silver Star medal in Korea, resided at Roaring Spring, Pa.

His mother, Mrs. Nellie Elizabeth (Hazelett) Roach, died of a heart attack May 17 while attending services at Napier Mennonite Church in Bedford county.

The father, Abram D. Barley Sr., was killed 11 years ago when a truck collided with his automobile near Cresson, Pa.

Mrs. Roach has two sisters and three other brothers.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

WASHINGTON — Today the cloakrooms of the Senate are ominously silent. The chamber is hushed, the page boys move very, very quietly, members converse in hushed tones.

The quietness is respectful — reverent, in tribute to one of the greatest men this nation has ever known, Senator Robert A. Taft.

For the last several days all of us have realized that our friend Bob Taft was seriously ill, none of us really believed that he could live, yet we hoped.

He has passed from this world to the life beyond, which is the eternal destination of each of us. Yet his memory will remain a symbol of honesty, of fairness, of true American fundamental beliefs. This memory will give continued courage to us all.

Senator Taft has now been eulogized by his many friends in the Senate and we have respectfully recessed.

No eulogy will ever be able to express the great personal loss which his death means to me.

Robert Taft was my ideal of what a United States senator should be. He was a kindly, friendly man who was always ready and willing to be helpful to us who were less experienced than he.

He was a patient man of sincere beliefs, but willing to meet anyone halfway. During his years as leader of the opposition he stood as the conscience of conservative Americans. He jealously protected the ideals of American liberty and enterprise.

As the majority leader of the Senate he proved himself to be a master at persuading others to work together in harmony. His services to the new administration were invaluable — he was a uniter and a compromiser.

Senator Taft's death is a great loss to the State of Ohio which he served with distinction — it is a greater loss to the nation which knew him as a true statesman. It is a personal loss to me, who knew him as a friend.

We may truly say of Senator Taft what may be said of few other men — that he is one of those immortal men who live again in minds made better by their memory.

AN IFFER-AND-WHENNER
The Bermuda peace wrangle scheduled for June never reached the front burners.

It was Churchill's idea to talk things over. With everybody else nodding.

It had to wait on the fermenting French political melange. The quick nominations for premier got to be the international daily double.

By the time France got straightened out Prime Minister Churchill took sick. In the non-negotiable interim Stalin kicked off and Russia was grounded.

The Big Three did meet at Washington and whipped up a formula for planned conjecture. Balboa on a peak in Darien never had a wilder surmise.

The egg from that hatching was a smaller and more peaceful peace conference. Four foreign ministers were scheduled to meet. The first three Bidault, Salisbury and Dulles. The fourth to be the walking man Molotov.

This one is strictly an iffer-and-a-whenner. Like the husband who was a good provider. He would provide good provided he first got a job.

It's scheduled for early autumn after the September West German election riots, the East German slave labor protests, the English labor strikes and the collapse of the French cabinet.

Things should be smoother by then. Most important of the major disturbances will also be smoothed over. Our American children will be back in school.

The chances of Bidault being there in autumn hinge on the ability of the present premier to stay present.

Right now it is a Native Dancer book.

Frederick St. Association Makes Request To Council

Members of the Frederick Street Improvement Association yesterday asked the Mayor and City Council to assess property owners on that street only for new sidewalks in the project which will make the street U. S. Route 220 northbound.

George R. Hughes Jr., attorney for the association, mentioned in his letter to council that the Frederick Street group did not initiate the proposed project, and that with the street being made a part of Route 220 the improvements will be much more costly than for ordinary improvements on a residential thoroughfare.

Hughes also said the zoning law and restriction it imposes will also place property owners in a position where they may not be able to realize any profit on their investment.

With Frederick Street being designated as the northbound route and being one-way only, the city as a whole will benefit with elimination of traffic congestion for other sections, Hughes pointed out.

This fact leads the association members to the conclusion that the city should bear the majority of the cost of the proposed project. Hughes added. Bedford Street will be the southbound one-way part of U. S. Route 220.

Prior Work Suggested
Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, asked for authority to install 72 curbs for sewer and water for properties on Frederick Street at a cost of about $7,000. She said that if the work is done prior to the work on building the new street it will eliminate any future tearing up of surfacing for such installations.

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company has also been asked to install gas lines to the property affected, so that this work can be completed and not cause any digging up of paving later on.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, gave a report to the Mayor and Council on a bad sewer condition existing on Homer Street. He said the water which comes into the sewers in that section from the Jane Frazier Village housing project has overburdened the line and causes water to back up in cellars.

Nuzum suggested that a small open run in that area be encased with concrete pipe in order to carry off the water.

Both sanitary lines and water from downspouts of residences and other waste water empty into the present lines, which are inadequate, Nuzum said.

The estimated cost of the project will be $12,000. Nuzum said it will eliminate the health hazard from the open run and also take care

Poolroom Permit Is Denied By City Council

Upon the recommendation of Police Commissioner John J. Long, a license application by James Arthur Hackett, 116 South Lee Street, for a permit to operate a poolroom at 106-108 North Mechanic Street was rejected by the Mayor and Council at yesterday morning's session.

Commissioner Long said that Hackett had been involved in two disorderly conduct cases. The property is owned by Melvin M. Sachs and was formerly occupied by the Silver Grill and Sister Sue's Kitchen.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to enter into a lease for a vacant lot off the Kelly-Springfield Boulevard near Water Street from the James Powell heirs. The lease would be for $1 per year and the lot would be converted into a playground for that section.

A report by Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, showed $2,562.06 collected by his office during July for licenses, recreation admissions, Sunday movie and bingo taxes.

George E. Davis, city tax collector, reported a total of $36,990.89 collected during July from city taxes, paving liens, and sewer liens.

A report from the Street and Public Property Department for July shows 1,112 streets, 187 alleys, 47 catch basins and 11 manholes cleaned.

An order appointing members to the Board of Zoning Appeals introduced by Mayor Eves was passed.

Charles Paul Roeder was appointed for a term ending in 1956, James C. Gardner, to 1955, and William B. Orndorff to January 1954.

County Road Work Report Is Given

The cost of maintaining county roads during the past three years has varied on per-mile basis, the three-year report of J. Walker Chapman, County Roads Department supervisor, shows.

The least amount expended was for 7.8 miles in District 28 which is in the Frostburg area. There $178 was spent in three years, an average of $23 per mile.

However, in District 27, the Gilmore area, where there is one mile of road certified by the state as being credited to the county on its share of the gasoline tax, $13,506 was spent in the three years.

Chapman explained that while only one mile is accredited road, in District 27, there is other mileage that the county maintains that does not come under certification in this particular area.

The amount expended by District and the cost per mile during the past three years ending June 30 is as follows:

What Car Belongs Here?

Not many people would hesitate in naming the car they feel belongs in that inviting driveway.

It's the entrance to a fine American home, with a tradition of gracious living behind its handsome pillars—and the car which so obviously belongs before it is a Cadillac.

But here is a fact which it is important to remember—a Cadillac likewise belongs in the driveways of millions of other American homes which are far more modest than the beautiful structure shown in the illustration above. For it is practical, as well as thrilling, to own a Cadillac.

Listen, if you doubt it, to these amazing and significant facts:

—there are twenty-two models of other makes of American motor cars which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac!

—a Cadillac will actually run farther on a gallon of gasoline than numerous cars which are built and sold primarily for economy!

—a Cadillac is so dependable and long-lived that it is just about as economical to service and maintain as any car you could buy.

—and, finally—according to authentic used car evaluations—a Cadillac may be expected to return a greater percentage of its cost at the time of resale than any other car built in America.

In view of these significant facts, don't you think you should consider a Cadillac for your driveway? Whether you live in a mansion or a house designed for easy living—a Cadillac belongs.

You can buy a Cadillac for prestige and glamour—or you can buy it for economy and common sense. And whichever you buy it for, you'll get all four.

Better come in and see us today. We'll gladly give you the facts and a demonstration.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (INS)—Billy Pierce's two-hit pitching paced the Chicago White Sox to a 1 to 0 shutout over the Washington Senators tonight before 7,666 fans. The second place Chicago thus cut the Yankees' lead to five games.

The little southpaw yielded singles to Mickey Vernon, and Keith Thomas, as he struck out nine and posted his 13th win against seven losses.

The Sox scored their lone tally in the ninth when Johnny Schmitz, Washington pitcher, hit Tom Wright who later advanced to second on a sacrifice and went to third on Eddie Yost's error, after crashing into Shortstop Jerry Snyder who had dropped the ball. Sherman Lollar's long fly scored the winning run.

Schmitz gave up six hits in losing his sixth game of the year against two victories.

It was the third straight defeat suffered by the Rotarians who still hold second place by the margin of one game over the onrushing Lions.

The Times-News topped its lead over the Rotary Club to 1½ games by trouncing the last place Kiwanis Club, 19-4, in a night game at Penn Avenue Field.

Darrell Henry posted his first win of the season for the Newsies. He limited Kiwanis to four hits, struck out ten and issued eight walks.

Beck, Washington and Cioni had two hits each for the winners who combed the offerings of Merkel for 14 batters. Merkel struck out eleven, walked eight and hit two batters. Scaletta obtained two of the losers' hits. The scores:

As Ford Cops 12th

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—The New York Yankees boosted their American League lead to 5½ games over Chicago today, crushing the lowly St. Louis Browns 11-3 with an 18-hit attack against three hapless hurlers.

Scoring early and often, the Yankees routed their one-time nemesis, southpaw Bob Cain, in a four-run fourth inning, and continued their slugfest against righthander Marlin Stuart and Mike Blyzka.

Four of the Yankee hits were garnered by pitcher Whitey Ford, who shut out the Browns in all but the eighth inning when the tail-enders collected four of their 11 hits to score all their runs. It was Ford's 12th victory against four defeats.

The Yankees didn't hit any homers but they ripped off four triples and three doubles. One of the doubles was made by Gus Triandos, 24-year-old rookie brought up from Birmingham to play first base. It was the only hit he made in five times at bat.

Hank Bauer cracked two triples and drove in three runs. Irv Noren and Ford collected four singles apiece. Yogi Berra rapped a double and single. Phil Rizzuto and Martin got the other triples.

Rosalie Bowers "stole the show" yesterday as Central Quick Lunch defeated the East Side Maids in a Queens Softball League game at Allegany Field by the score of 6-0.

The Central twirler tossed a one-hitter, to make her season record 10-2, retiring the last 17 batters in order and slammed a three-run homer during the Lunchers six-run rally in the third inning.

Darlene Weimer walked to open the sixth. Hite singled and both runners advanced when Jo Anne Dickie sacrificed. Both runners scored when Adams threw wildly to second base. Clontz singled home Dickie and after Hale drew a pass, Bowers hit for the circuit.

It marked Central's second shutout victory over the Maids this season.

Hercules Powder Puffs crashed the win column for the first time this season by defeating Baker's at Stitches Field, 4-2.

Darlene "Ducky" Lease went the route for the Puffs and pitched a neat four-hitter. Belle Rice collected two of the Puffs five hits while Marie Sherman batted in two runs.

Sarah "Beans" Lashley of Hercules made a nice catch in left field with the bases loaded while Washington Baker's left fielder, also starred afield. M. Frazier with two hits and Nanny Beckward with a double led Baker's hitters. Scores:

Mangrum Cops All-American Golf Tourney

Finishes 13 Strokes
Under Par With 275,
Earns $3,420 Purse

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum, jaunty 39-year-old grandpappy, pocketed the top prize of $3,420 today at Tam O'Shanter by winning the All American golf crown with a pressure-jammed last round of 67.

His 72-hole total of 275 was 13 strokes under par (36-72) for the 6,915-yard layout.

Mangrum, the Tam's Tournament circuit representative, thus started what he hopes will be another grand slam at the club.

In 1948, he captured both the All American and following "World Championship" meets, a combined effort worth $25,000. The Tam O'Shanter $90,000 "World" Tournament starts Thursday with the winner receiving $25,000.

Leads Money Winners
Today's victory came with a closing nine-hole score of 32 that was climaxed by sinking a 23 foot chip from the back fringe of the 18th hole for a birdie 3. The triumph put Mangrum ahead of Ben Hogan for the season's money-winning lead, boosting his jackpot to $18,786.

Mangrum also stayed ahead in the PGA race for Vardon Trophy honors by averaging 70.1 strokes through 60 competitive rounds this season.

Mangrum's final 35-32-67 smothered great finishes by his rivals and gave him a three-stroke margin over Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., and defending champion Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Kroll birdied the last two holes for a 34-33-67 while Snead eagled the 515-yard 15th with a five foot putt and birdied the 17th for a 36-32-68. Each totaled 278 and bagged $2,180.

Walter Burkemo Folds
Walter Burkemo, the current PGA champion from Franklin, Mich., folded on the final nine after being tied with Mangrum at 63 holes and ended with 34-36-70 for 279, fourth place worth $1,700.

Bunched at 280 were Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., with the tournament's best round of 64; Henry Ransom with a closing 68; Jim Turnesa with 69, Al Besselin, 69, and Dave Douglas, 71. Each won $1,148.

Frank Stranahan won his sixth straight All American Men's Amateur title, beating out Tam's club champion, John Levinson, 288 to 291. Each fired final 70s.

Patty Berg Winner
The All American Women's Open was won for the third time by Patty Berg. She posted a closing 76 for a 308 tally, four over women's regulation, to beat Louise Suggs by one stroke. Miss Suggs finished with a 78. Miss Berg's award was $1,000 while Miss Suggs received $600.

Babe Zaharias, trying a comeback after a cancer operation April 17, placed 15th and finished out of the money. She shot a final 84 for 329.

Ferris Fain Sued For $50,000 After Brawl In Tavern

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (INS)—Chicago White Sox first baseman Ferris Fain was sued for $50,000 today and charged with assault.

The plaintiff, James Judge, 28, of Washington, said in his suit for damages that the ball player loosed several of his teeth during a tavern brawl Sunday night.

Police Lt. E. H. Mulligan said eyewitnesses told him Fain hit Judge in the mouth following an argument between the pair over Fain's woman companion. Several blows were exchanged before the fracas was broken up.

Judge's attorney, James C. Toomey, told newsmen the argument began when his client sought unsuccessfully to "cut in" on Fain's dancing partner.

Parker's Wins, 15-7

Sports Grill AT THE TRACKS

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(INS)—We are about to purchase a large supply of king-size crying towels for presentation, as needed, to college football coaches.

Some members of the lachrymose fraternity already are weeping over (1) the new substitution rule and (2) the shortage of manpower.

The shortage of manpower invariably means that the coach hasn't a dozen All-America men on his squad.

The coaches are beginning to mean earlier than usual this year because college football rosters are already hitting the sports desk with gentle suggestions that we keep an eye on Joe Zilch who is sure All-America this year, despite the fact that he has not yet played a game.

And already we are hearing of teams that are supposedly "loaded," such as Brown University. Many years of sad experience has taught us to go slow about accepting these "loaded" teams or All-America boys until we have seen them in action.

The new substitution rule gives the coaches more than their usual quota of alibis. Some already are on record as saying they would have had a great team if allowed to use all their specialists.

Others, like Col. Red Blaik never alibi but the good Colonel fears that the new substitution rule will slow up the game. With all due respect to the Colonel's sagacity, we doubt it.

The new rule reads: "A player withdrawn from the game shall not return during the period from which he was withdrawn, except that a player withdrawn before the final four minutes of the second or fourth period may return during the final four minutes of the period from which he was withdrawn."

Penalty for each infraction is 15 yards.

If that rule sounds involved just remember that college professors wrote it.

Some of the coaches say we shall see an inferior brand of football. Why? Can't a youngster who has been a star on offense learn to make a tackle on defense? And can't a tough young kid, weighing anywhere up to 240 pounds, play a full game like his dad did? Or have we become a nation of otities?

Few coaches say that not enough boys will get into a game. How much play did the palukas of a squad ever get? And if the game is lop-sided, as too many of them are, there is nothing to prevent a coach from using every dub he has on his squad.

On second thought, we can see where the colleges with small squads may get a break. Coaches with big squads could send in a succession of men against a small squad whose coach had, by necessity, to make most of his players play the full game against succeeding fresh men.

As for the charge that the fans won't like the new rule, that's pure hokum. Football fans, never consulted about rule changes, have turned out no matter what sort of game was played. They still will.

Pimlico Special Set For Oct. 24

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Maryland Jockey Club, hoping to bring about a Native Dancer-Tom Fool clash at the Pimlico Special, today set the date of the Special for Oct. 24.

The Pimlico Futurity, originally set for that date, was moved back to Oct. 17.

Ben and Herman Cohen, new owners of Old Hilltop, realize the competition will be keen for Native Dancer and Tom Fool. But with a sweetened purse and a date switch they figure they might pull it off.

It will be the 17th running of the Special and will wind up Pimlico's 12-day fall meeting.

The purse for the mile-and-three-sixteenths test has been doubled, putting it at $50,000.

The winner-take-all proviso of the Special has been removed with the increased purse. Now there will be second, third and fourth money.

Yvars Fined, Suspended For Jostling Umpire

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—Sal Yvars, reserve St. Louis Cardinal catcher, today was suspended for five days and fined $150 for jostling Umpire Bill Jackowski after a close play at home plate during yesterday's Cardinal-Brooklyn game here.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3 (INS)—Charlie Chaplin—junior, I mean—has just been signed by Television Producer Al Lang for a new audience participation show, "Who's Behind the Number."

The idea, to me, is interesting. Name stars will be invited on their birthday or as near their birthday as is possible. Young Chaplin will act out pantomime sketches on each show.

Charlie Jr. should not suffer for any criticism leveled against his father. He served in World War II and he's a very nice boy.

Maureen O'Hara came back from Mexico especially to talk to Bert Friedlob about playing the role of Katie in "Untamed." It's a great woman's role.

Bert was lucky enough to get Talbot Jennings, who did so much work for Irving Thalberg in the old days, to adapt Helga Moray's story to the screen.

Dorian Leigh, one of the most fabulous models in the world, will come here directly from England to be tested before Bert leaves town.

Dennis O'Keefe, as a director, is a new one in my books. However, he'll direct as well as star in "Rich Is the Treasure" in England.

Last year, when Dennis was making "The Fake" in London, the director was taken ill and Dennis finished more than half the film. This so impressed Steven Pallos, the producer, that he had no hesitance in turning over the directing job of "Rich Is the Treasure" to O'Keefe.

Dennis sails from New York Aug. 7 to do some preparatory work, but he'll return to pick up Steffi and the children and take them back.

While Humphrey Bogart was in Honolulu making "Caine Mutiny" he had a very amusing experience with Lt. Commander Florn Lee, who is now in Hollywood being given the A treatment by Bogey, Van Johnson, Bob Francis and Fred MacMurray.

Bogey was out in his boat, the Sultana, and kept passing the USS Doyle on which Commander Lee was stationed. Every time Bogart went around the ship he dipped the colors, and, finally, after the 15th time, Commander Lee used his glasses. When he saw who the crazy navigator was he sent a radio message — "To Captain Queeg from Commander Lee: Go away."

This was before Commander Lee's ship, the USS Doyle, was used as the USS Caine in the movie.

Dancing and jumping rope are two of the finest ways to contour legs naturally and beautifully!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The swim-suit and play-suit season has resulted in the stuffing of my mail box with myriad questions on how to contour legs. "How can I reduce my knees?" "How can I reduce my thighs?" "My legs are too thin." These are the general run of questions and complaints. One correspondent wants to know whether leg-stretching exercises will make her taller. So today we'll have another lesson on cultivating comely leg contours.

Whether you wish to build up your legs or reduce them, we suggest that you dance! Dance as often and as much as you can. Join a dance club, take ballroom or ballet lessons. Dance alone at home. Send for a copy of our booklet, "Dance through a Week to Beauty," which you can obtain by sending a self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper. Rhythmic dancing of any type is sure to improve legs that are too slender and in need of curves or those that are too heavy and in need of trimming.

Contouring Legs
My second suggestion is that you jump rope. Too-heavy legs, whether the weight is excessive around the ankle, calf, knee or thigh, will be tremendously benefited by jumping rope rapidly, always landing and taking off on the toe of each foot. Those who wish to increase leg size should jump rope more slowly, landing on the heel of the foot.

Immediate improvement in appearance will be yours, regardless of your leg size and shape, the moment you learn how to stand attractively. Though we gave the rules recently, they are worth repeating again:

Immediate Improvement
1. Start your stance by flexing or easing your knees. The locked knee produces an ugly line.
2. Place one foot slightly ahead of the other, taking care that from the front the eye sees no space between the legs. When either leg is seen separately its smallness or largeness is emphasized.

3. Let the knee of your front foot slightly hide the inner line of the knee of your back foot.
4. Keep your front foot facing straight ahead. Let the back foot toe out just slightly.
To the reader who asks whether "stretching the muscles in one's legs makes one taller," the answer is no. Your length is determined entirely by the length of your leg bones.

Devote ten minutes per day to recontouring your legs and you'll improve their appearance most effectively!

Dancing and jumping rope are two of the finest ways to contour legs naturally and beautifully!

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

The swim-suit and play-suit season has resulted in the stuffing of my mail box with myriad questions on how to contour legs. "How can I reduce my knees?" "How can I reduce my thighs?" "My legs are too thin." These are the general run of questions and complaints. One correspondent wants to know whether leg-stretching exercises will make her taller. So today we'll have another lesson on cultivating comely leg contours.

Whether you wish to build up your legs or reduce them, we suggest that you dance! Dance as often and as much as you can. Join a dance club, take ballroom or ballet lessons. Dance alone at home. Send for a copy of our booklet, "Dance through a Week to Beauty," which you can obtain by sending a self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper. Rhythmic dancing of any type is sure to improve legs that are too slender and in need of curves or those that are too heavy and in need of trimming.

Contouring Legs
My second suggestion is that you jump rope. Too-heavy legs, whether the weight is excessive around the ankle, calf, knee or thigh, will be tremendously benefitted by jumping rope rapidly, always landing and taking off on the toe of each foot. Those who wish to increase leg size should jump rope more slowly, landing on the heel of the foot.

Immediate improvement in appearance will be yours, regardless of your leg size and shape, the moment you learn how to stand attractively. Though we gave the rules recently, they are worth repeating again:

Immediate Improvement
1. Start your stance by flexing or easing your knees. The locked knee produces an ugly line.
2. Place one foot slightly ahead of the other, taking care that from the front the eye sees no space between the legs. When either leg is seen separately its smallness or largeness is emphasized.

3. Let the knee of your front foot slightly hide the inner line of the knee of your back foot.
4. Keep your front foot facing straight ahead. Let the back foot toe out just slightly.

To the reader who asks whether "stretching the muscles in your legs makes one taller," the answer is no. Your length is determined entirely by the length of your leg bones.

Devote ten minutes per day to recontouring your legs and you'll improve their appearance most effectively!

"DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY"
Created EXCLUSIVELY for readers of this column, delightful and dance steps anyone can do. They bring increased grace and reduced measurements as proved by test. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to cover costs for a copy of DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY. Tomorrow: Fall silhouette.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Louis E. Haus for postmaster at Mt. Savage. The nomination had been sent to the Senate last week by the President.

Savage High School in 1939 and attended Frostburg State Teachers College. He later worked at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America before being drafted into the Army.

Following his discharge Haus attended Morgan Vocational School in Ridgeley and taught watchmaking and machine mathematics for approximately three years.

He is married to the former Miss Margaret Holsinger of Mt. Savage and is a member of the Methodist Church of that community. He is financial secretary of the church and also is a Sunday School teacher.

Others Confirmed

Haus also is interested in the Mt. Savage Little Baseball League, helping to manage a team in the circuit.

Sorely Needed Rain Expected In Tri-State

Worried housewives scanned murky skies yesterday before hanging out the regular Monday wash but the threatened rainfall which is so badly needed throughout the area didn't quite make it.

Late Sunday night scattered thundershowers in the mountains and surrounding communities around Cumberland brought promise of relief yesterday, which was not forthcoming.

Temperatures ranged for the most part in the high 60s and mid-70s, somewhat cooler than the average during July. A trace of rain hit Cumberland yesterday afternoon but did little more than wet the streets and sidewalks briefly.

Farmers and foresters still look skyward with hopeful prayers the present indications for rain will bring the sorely needed relief to the woodlands and crops throughout the tri-state area.

An unexpected cold air mass moved into Maryland Sunday night and is expected to continue through today, the Weather Bureau indicated. With the presence of the cool mass a good chance of showers is anticipated.

Temperatures are expected to remain in the 70s during the day. Winds and some rain accompanied the drop in temperatures last night but it wasn't enough to wet dry lawns and farms throughout the state.

Highest mercury recording on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was at Hartman where 82 degrees was registered. At Orleans it was 68 degrees and cloudy at 8 o'clock last night. Terra Alta and Blazer had temperatures of 66 degrees, while Altamont showed 64.

At Bedford, Pa., and Romney, W. Va., state police reported no rainfall in the Pennsylvania and West Virginia areas surrounding Western Maryland.

High for the day at Constitution Park in Cumberland was 70 degrees, coolest maximum in the Queen City for several weeks. Low temperature during the night reached 64 degrees and the humidity was a high 81 per cent.

Forecast for today is cloudy with some scattered thundershowers with temperatures in the 70s.

Wildcat Hollow Highway Feud Flares Up Again

State Police Called To Break Up Fracas

The several-month-old case of whether a road in Wildcat Hollow just off Williams Road is a public road or not flared up again this week, and another hearing is scheduled for 11 a. m. today in Trial Magistrate Court.

The dispute involves Geraldine M. Messersmith, RFD 2, who owns the property over which the road passes; James French Bonner, who lives at the Messersmith home, and residents of the Wildcat Hollow area.

The Messersmith woman and Bonner contend the road is private property, but residents using the road say the road has become a "public highway" because it has been used by residents for over 50 years.

Leading Events

Events up to date include a hearing in which Magistrate Donald W. Mason used a Motor Vehicle Code definition of a road to call the disputed thoroughfare a "public highway"; Messersmith and Bonner's attorneys have filed an equity suit in Circuit Court; a reported fracas at the Messersmith place, and today's hearing.

At a hearing held in June, Bonner was fined $10 on a charge of blocking a public road. A warrant was issued for Bonner after Margaret B. Pryor, a resident of that section, complained that Bonner had parked a pickup truck across the road at Wildcat Hollow.

Bonner was found guilty of the charge after Magistrate Mason referred to the Motor Vehicle Code to find the definition of a road. Bonner was also entered on the criminal docket on a charge of making loud and profane noise on a public street and highway. He was given a suspended 30-day jail sentence and put on probation. Bonner admitted both charges.

Who Owns Road?

But later, the question of whether Mason had the authority to determine if the road was public or not came up, and attorney for Bonner and the Messersmith woman last week filed an equity suit in Circuit Court to get its decision on whether the road belonged to the Messersmith woman or the "public".

Then Saturday evening, State Police Trooper John F. Browning was sent to the Wildcat Hollow section to quiet a disturbance at the Messersmith place.

According to Harold E. Naughton, attorney for Bonner and the Messersmith woman, about 17 residents attacked the two persons Saturday evening, causing minor injuries.

Naughton quoted Bonner as saying the residents came in cars and began beating up him and the Messersmith woman. Bonner said he had a camera and was taking pictures of the fracas when one resident took it away from him and slammed it down on his head. He added he recovered the camera and will develop the pictures.

Bonner told Naughton that he tried to take the Messersmith woman to the hospital but the angry crowd blocked the road. Then the two fled into the woods.

Warrant Issued

Bonner said the residents have been tossing obstacles in the road, according to Naughton, and that he took pictures of some of them placing nails in the highway. No arrests were made by State Police. Today's hearing is the result of a state warrant sworn out by Margaret Pryor, a neighbor, charging Bonner with violation of Section 145, Article 27—making "loud and profane noises" on a public highway.

Bonner has been summoned to appear for a hearing this morning before Magistrate Mason.

Wheat Farmers To Get Notices On Allotments

216 Farms May Plant 1,656 Acres

Notices on wheat allotments for 216 Allegany County farms were mailed out last night, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, secretary of the County PMA Committee.

Miss Hoover said the allotments total 1,656 acres with some 50 other acres set aside for appeals. She added that farmers who are dissatisfied with their allotments are allowed 15 days after getting their notices before submitting their appeals in writing to the PMA committee.

Although 216 farms have been given allotments, only 19 county farmers are eligible to vote in the referendum on wheat quotas for the 1954 crop. They are the only ones who averaged seeding 16 or more acres of wheat in the three past years. The average wheat acreage for the three years has been 1,928 acres.

The referendum will take place Friday, August 14, at the PMA office, 37 Washington Street, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Among those eligible to vote, seven are in the Little Orleans area and four more in the vicinity of Flintstone.

If two-thirds of the nation's wheat farmers vote for quotas, those who plant within their wheat farm acreage allotment will be eligible for Commodity Credit Corporation price supports at 90 per cent of parity. Otherwise the supports will be 50 per cent of parity.

Red Cross Collects 161 Usable Pints

The Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, topped its 150-pint monthly blood quota yesterday during the August visit of the Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Headquarters Bloodmobile unit at the Eagles Home.

Red Cross workers yesterday collected 161 pints of blood from county volunteer donors. Officials reported that of the 240 persons scheduled to donate blood, 123 kept their appointments. In addition to these, there were 67 "walk-ins" at the FOE headquarters.

The bloodmobile unit will be at the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion, in Westernport today from noon to 6 p. m.

Four Join Gallon Club

Also yesterday, three country women and one man were enlisted in the Red Cross "Gallon Club." The pint of blood donated yesterday by the "repeaters" made one gallon of blood each have contributed to the program since it began in the county.

Results Gratifying

The portion of the blood collected will now be processed into gamma globulin, the derivative which is being used to combat the crippling effects of polio. It takes slightly over two units of blood to make one "shot" of gamma globulin, and it takes more than two units of whole blood to make one unit of plasma.

Officials added that county citizens should also remember that the program assures free blood when needed by them in emergencies.

Wildcat Hollow Highway Feud Flares Up Again

State Police Called To Break Up Fracas

The several-month-old case of whether a road in Wildcat Hollow just off Williams Road is a public road or not flared up again this week, and another hearing is scheduled for 11 a. m. today in Trial Magistrate Court.

The dispute involves Geraldine M. Messersmith, RFD 2, who owns the property over which the road passes; James French Bonner, who lives at the Messersmith home, and residents of the Wildcat Hollow area.

The Messersmith woman and Bonner contend the road is private property, but residents using the road say the road has become a "public highway" because it has been used by residents for over 50 years.

Leading Events

Events up to date include a hearing in which Magistrate Donald W. Mason used a Motor Vehicle Code definition of a road to call the disputed thoroughfare a "public highway"; Messersmith and Bonner's attorneys have filed an equity suit in Circuit Court; a reported fracas at the Messersmith place, and today's hearing.

At a hearing held in June, Bonner was fined $10 on a charge of blocking a public road. A warrant was issued for Bonner after Margaret B. Pryor, a resident of that section, complained that Bonner had parked a pickup truck across the road at Wildcat Hollow.

Bonner was found guilty of the charge after Magistrate Mason referred to the Motor Vehicle Code to find the definition of a road. Bonner was also entered on the criminal docket on a charge of making loud and profane noise on a public street and highway. He was given a suspended 30-day jail sentence and put on probation. Bonner admitted both charges.

Who Owns Road?

But later, the question of whether Mason had the authority to determine if the road was public or not came up, and attorney for Bonner and the Messersmith woman last week filed an equity suit in Circuit Court to get its decision on whether the road belonged to the Messersmith woman or the "public".

Then Saturday evening, State Police Trooper John F. Browning was sent to the Wildcat Hollow section to quiet a disturbance at the Messersmith place.

According to Harold E. Naughton, attorney for Bonner and the Messersmith woman, about 17 residents attacked the two persons Saturday evening, causing minor injuries.

Naughton quoted Bonner as saying the residents came in cars and began beating up him and the Messersmith woman. Bonner said he had a camera and was taking pictures of the fracas when one resident took it away from him and slammed it down on his head. He added he recovered the camera and will develop the pictures.

Bonner told Naughton that he tried to take the Messersmith woman to the hospital but the angry crowd blocked the road. Then the two fled into the woods.

Warrant Issued

Bonner said the residents have been tossing obstacles in the road, according to Naughton, and that he took pictures of some of them placing nails in the highway. No arrests were made by State Police.

Today's hearing is the result of a state warrant sworn out by Margaret Pryor, a neighbor, charging Bonner with violation of Section 145, Article 27—making "loud and profane noises" on a public highway.

Bonner has been summoned to appear for a hearing this morning before Magistrate Mason.

Wheat Farmers To Get Notices On Allotments

216 Farms May Plant 1,656 Acres

Notices on wheat allotments for 216 Allegany County farms were mailed out last night, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, secretary of the County PMA Committee.

Miss Hoover said the allotments total 1,656 acres with some 50 other acres set aside for appeals. She added that farmers who are dissatisfied with their allotments are allowed 15 days after getting their notices before submitting their appeals in writing to the PMA committee.

Although 216 farms have been given allotments, only 19 county farmers are eligible to vote in the referendum on wheat quotas for the 1954 crop. They are the only ones who averaged seeding 16 or more acres of wheat in the three past years. The average wheat acreage for the three years has been 1,928 acres.

The referendum will take place Friday, August 14, at the PMA office, 37 Washington Street, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Among those eligible to vote, seven are in the Little Orleans area and four more in the vicinity of Flintstone.

If two-thirds of the nation's wheat farmers vote for quotas, those who plant within their wheat farm acreage allotment will be eligible for Commodity Credit Corporation price supports at 90 per cent of parity. Otherwise the supports will be 50 per cent of parity.

Red Cross Collects 161 Usable Pints

The Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, topped its 150-pint monthly blood quota yesterday during the August visit of the Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Headquarters Bloodmobile unit at the Eagles Home.

Red Cross workers yesterday collected 161 pints of blood from county volunteer donors. Officials reported that of the 240 persons scheduled to donate blood, 123 kept their appointments. In addition to these, there were 67 "walk-ins" at the FOE headquarters.

The bloodmobile unit will be at the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion, in Westernport today from noon to 6 p. m.

Four Join Gallon Club

Also yesterday, three county women and one man were enlisted in the Red Cross "Gallon Club." The pint of blood donated yesterday by the "repeaters" made one gallon of blood each have contributed to the program since it began in the county.

The three women, the first woman to join the club, were Mrs. Pauline Cross, 359 Williams Street; Mrs. Ethel Hudson, 208 New Hampshire Avenue, and Mrs. Thomas B. Cumiskey, 310 Franklin Street.

The other new member was William Malachowski, 34 South Street. Three other men were enlisted in the "Gallon Club" last month.

Results Gratifying

Red Cross officials yesterday were very much pleased with the result of this month's visit. They pointed out that although the truce has been signed in Korea, the blood quota of Allegany County will not be affected.

The portion of the blood collected will now be processed into gamma globulin, the derivative which is being used to combat the crippling effects of polio. It takes slightly over two units of blood to make one "shot" of gamma globulin, and it takes more than two units of whole blood to make one unit of plasma.

Officials added that county citizens should also remember that the program assures free blood when needed by them in emergencies.

Two Hospitalized Following Mishap Near Fort Ashby

Two women were hospitalized early yesterday morning with injuries sustained when a car in which they were riding sideswiped another auto near Fort Ashby.

The two women were passengers in a car operated by Charles E. Lattimer, 23, this city. West Virginia State Police said the accident occurred when Lattimer apparently swerved to avoid hitting a dog on the highway and sideswiped a car operated by John R. Nichols, 35, of Columbus, Ohio.
